DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 10-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 10 - the claim lacks a transitional phrase making the claim unclear because it is unclear to the examiner what structure the applicant is actually intending to claim.

Claim 14 - the claim sets forth a "withdrawable rod" however the claim does not indicate what the rod is withdrawable from. Claim 10 indicates only that the indicator is attached to the main body, therefore there is nothing to withdraw the indicator from.

Claim 17 - is "fibres" misspelled?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 10-14 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Waters (2,763,265).

Claim 10 - the device of Waters is compressible, column 2 lines 18-22. See the elements labeled below.

Claim 11 - the working section is "essentially" spherical.

Claims 12 and 13 - the lengths of the stop section and the holding section may be selected to fall within the claimed ranges. The sections may be selected by drawing lines perpendicular to the longitudinal axis of the device and moving them longitudinally to select the desired dimensions. The claims do not set forth specific structure to define the stop section or the holding section so the sections may be selected of any size and therefore meet the claimed ranges.

Claim 14 - element -2- is considered a short rod that is withdrawable from structure the device would be inserted into, such as the vagina.

Claim 18 - the product is a throw-away product because it is capable of being thrown away.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Waters (2,763,265) in view of Russell (6,562,018).

Claim 16 - Waters teaches a device as claimed but forms the device from plastic not rubber. The lubrication set forth in column 3 line 35 is considered a gliding layer.

Russell teaches a muscle exerciser wherein the body may be formed from plastic or rubber, column 2 lines 61-67.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the medical arts at the time the invention was made to make the device of Waters from rubber in place of the plastic as a substitution of functionally equivalent materials as set forth by Russell. Such a combination would produce predictable results of a device made from rubber and have a high expectancy of success because both materials are known for making pelvic floor exercisers.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 15 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US Patent documents, 5,931,775, D590,066 and D458,681 teach related exercising devices.
